How Our iMIS Chatbot is Changing the iMIS Game
Hello everyone! I am veering off course from my usual check-in because I am a bit of an AI geek and want to chat about that a bit. I do use it a lot, however, all the emails I am getting where they are clearly written by AI is driving me crazy and so many are losing the personal touch of developing email marketing. When I use it for email, I start with what I have developed myself. I only rely on AI to help me with the flow, to sound more professional or maybe even to add some humor since I can be a bit serious at times.

iMIS Users Group Connection Newsletter - Submission Guidelines

The iMIS Users Group Connection Newsletter is the official voice of iUG. It carries professional news, reports the Board's actions, announces iUG events, webinars and other benefits. In addition, the newsletter informs the iMIS community of iMIS/iUG related news, issues and events of interest or other news and information that may impact its member/nonmember community. Submitted articles should focus on news relating to the iMIS product, iMIS customer/client case studies, iUG news and information and shall not promote any associate or vendor's products or services. Collaborations on articles between a vendor and iMIS customers are welcome. Submissions shall in no way promote an associate or vendor in a sales associated manner.

Submissions by all members of iUG are encouraged. In order to provide fair and equal access, consecutive submissions by a member or institution may not be permitted. In other words, institutions/members who have already published an article in a concurrent issue may not be able to have an article published in the following issue. (Example: If you had an article published in the 1st quarter issue, you may submit one for the 2nd quarter issue; however, it may not be published in that specific issue and may/may not be used in a future issue). Article selections are at the discretion of the Editors of the newsletter and submissions are not guaranteed to be published.

All submissions and inquiries regarding the newsletter should be directed to the Newsletter Editor:
